« Your attention is drawn to the fact that a comparison between several insurance contracts should not be limited to comparing the estimate of costs and fees of each contract. You must also take into account other elements, such as the extent guarantees, the amount of any deductibles or exclusion clauses.

The estimates above allow a better appreciation of the part of the premium used to cover the risk insured by the insurance contract. The balance of the premium, after deduction of taxes and contributions as well as acquisition and administration costs, in fact represents the share of the premium allocated to the performance of the contractual services as well as the costs not mentioned above (including the shared cost of claims and their management).

These estimates are based on the accounting data for the last financial year of the insurance company as approved by its General Meeting.”
